GPO has released the first video of its Easy As FDL campaign. View and download the video that describes what makes Federal depository libraries so unique and essential to the American public.

We encourage you to spread the word about the FDLP by sharing the video on your library's Web site, various social media sites, social networking sites, or in your presentations. You may also ask local government offices and educational institutions to place it on their Web sites.