How long will the pilot run, and what is the record delivery schedule?

Participating libraries will receive approximately nine months of records, beginning with October 2009. Selected libraries can expect record loads to be available for FTP in February 2010, shortly after library selections have been announced. The first batch will include records from October 2009 – February 2010. After that, records will be distributed once a month through June 2010. The deadline for retrieving (FTP) these records each month will be two weeks after they are made available by MARCIVE. Please refer to FAQ #6 for a list of depository participant expectations.
