Library Services and Content Management is pleased to announce that the Catalog of U.S. Government Publications' (CGP)
"Locate in a Library" feature has been enhanced to display two new fields: the "Catalog Website" and "Public Notes", providing additional depository-related information to assist users searching for a library that has their publication of interest.

We also want to thank all of the libraries who updated their data in the new Federal Depository Library Directory (FDLD) during our data update period. GPO is working toward the release of the public version of the FDLD in a few weeks, to provide the public the second option of searching the FDLD directly for library directory information, in addition to using the "Locate in a Library" feature of a bibliographic record.