Benefits to participating in a partnership include:

- Making a contribution to the depository library community.
- Strengthening GPO's outreach and collection use by contributing additional staff time, expertise, and server space.
- National recognition of your institution as a leader in the depository library community.
- Answer a need of the general public by creating a resource and linking from GPO's nationally recognized Web pages.
- Involvement in a project that has direct impact upon citizens' access and use of government information.