Location Codes

- Load specifications cannot accurately predict location codes for all material
- Examples of collections and circulation status that cannot be predicted:
 - Non-circulating material
 - Pamphlets shelved separately
 - Reference material
- Location codes need to be verified at time of processing

Tracking Records

Tracking Records by Shipping List

Using specially formatted control number fields (035) known as "ticklers". Marcive adds this tickler for shipping lists at the University of Delaware
 - 035/3: : |a tmp-sl-2002-0086-M

A number search for the tickler: ltdl fi no=tmp-sl-2002-0086-m, shows there are 21 records for 2002-0086-M

Tracking Records by Shipping List

• Using combined searches. This search combines a tapeload tickler search with a keyword search within the 590 field that contains the shipping list number.

- ltfi fi no=mtmp nm 20020328 and k590=0135 p

This number and keyword search shows there are 21 records for 2002-0135-P

Tracking Records by Tapeload

• FCLA NOTIS adds a "tapeload" tickler that includes a date for each load. This tickler is removed when the record is processed

| - 035: | • | a mrcv nm | 20020313 | (monthly load) |
|--------|---|-----------|----------|----------------|
| - 035: | : | a mtmp nm | 20020328 | (weekly load) |

A number search for the February tapeload tickler shows no records-- indicating all records have been "processed".

LTFI FIND no=mrcv nm 20020220 NO INDEX ENTRIES FOUND

A number search for the March tapeload tickler– ltfi fi no=mrcv nm 20020313, shows 73 of the 552 records loaded have not yet been "processed".

Tracking Records by Source

- FCLA NOTIS creates a "source" control number field (035) unique to each load. When there are multiple records in a load, a record number follows the load number. Record numbering starts with zero (0), so this is the forty-first record in the 02/28/02 weekly tapeload.
 - 035/1: : |a (Source)SLS0228 40

A combined number search for the source tickler and location code for BBC-ltfi fi no=source sls0228 and lcn=ndoc, shows 66 records remaining out of the 143 records for that tapeload.

Tracking Records by Local Control Number

- Using reports:
 - The ARROW (Ad-Hoc Report Request Over the Web) component of FCLA NOTIS
 - Report for a range of NOTIS control numbers
- Using searching:
 - FCLA NOTIS allows a browse of NOTIS control numbers

Knowing the range of NOTIS control numbers for new records from the tapeload statistics permits identification of records that did not overlay temporary records. This search – ltfi brow no=fiafd0550 results in the following index:

SAS Reports

Library systems staff use SAS to generate reports of new records loaded and records which have been overlaid by GPO cataloging. Documents and Maps Processing Unit staff review them, non-overlays (new records) first. Report elements include NOTIS record number; location code; SuDocs number (NOTIS holdings record); title (245 subfield |a); and presence of an 856 field. Non-overlays are addressed first, e.g. Congressional microfiche and online only titles. Sample entries of non-overlaid titles:

| BFG7293 | usdc | ITC 1.33:2002010693 | Fresh or frozen fish | ONLINE |
|---------|------|---------------------|--|--------|
| BFG7894 | usdc | PR 42.2:2002010107 | Report of the President of the United | ONLINE |

| BFG7555 | usdc | T 71.2:H 71/998 | Holding companies in the thrift industry | ONLINE |

Coding Congressional Fiche

Newly loaded dual format records, e.g., for Congressional titles, are identified and coded to indicate that the the microfiche has not yet been received:

TITLE: Promoting technology and education : turbo-charging the ...

SUBJECTS: High technology and education--United States.

Internet in education--United States.

LOCATION: CALL NUMBER: STATUS:

U.S. Documents - Temporary Control Number: In Pre-Order Process

Microfiche BFG7826

PURL Testing

Next, PURLs are tested, generally by diligent student worker. Defective or incomplete titles are easy to identify and mark.

We search the text files for "tiff" and sometimes find that tables or pages are missing. In this example, about 97 pages of evidence.

Editing PURL Records

When problems are found, e.g., incomplete text files, staff edit the records.

Editing the |3 subfield which specifies the resource, staff note "(incomplete)" or, more specific information.

In the edited record, the public may still choose the incomplete version, but is forewarned of possible defects:

PURL Typos: Diagnosis and Treatment

Typographical errors in PURLs can be diagnosed and reported to askLPS for correction using GPO provided online tools. In this case, a record was found to connect to the wrong title. Entering ocm39026991 (OCLC number) searches for the a record with a problem PURL.

Checking CGP for symptoms

Searching ocm39026991 (OCLC number) in GPO's Catalog retrieved one record:

Correcting Problems Think Locally: Fix Globally

Library staff edit the PURL in their institution's catalog and report the error to GPO via askLPS@gpo.gov. Reporting corrections to GPO assures coordinated correction to OCLC, CGP, and other products derived from GPO cataloging records.

Using GPO PURLs in Different Records

Local practice at many libraries may differ from GPO's treatment of particular titles. For example, is the title in one of the following categories?

- Monograph or serial?
- Book or electronic resource?
- Paper or microfiche?

Monograph or Serial?

It is possible to use PURLs to provide access to these, but use of caution may save trouble later as web sites change. IRS publications are one such example. A library catalog's serial record allows subject and keyword access and contains retention instructions for collection maintenance.

GPO has created many monographic records for the title Your Rights as a Taxpayer. This is the latest edition in CGP:

Your rights as a taxpayer. Rev.3-98. [1998] United States.
T 22.44/2:1/998.
[[0964-B]]. http://purl.access.gpo.gov/GPO/LPS820
<001> ocm39088375
<005> 19980622103252.0

Some libraries find it useful to treat this as an irregular serial, using OCLC record 39174241. The non-GPO serial record lacks the PURL for the online copy.

Should libraries adapt the serial record to include the PURL? One can add additional format notes and the GPO PURL:

530/3: : |a Also available via Internet from the IRS web site. Address as of 4/4/02:
http://www.irs.gov/pub/irs-pdf/p1.pdf ; current access is available via PURL.
856/1:41: |3 Current edition: |u
http://purl.access.gpo.gov/GPO/LPS820 |z Adobe
Acrobat Reader required

This PURL, LPS820, is only used in CGP for the 1998 edition of this publication. Currently, it points to a page from which the current edition, an August 2000 revision may be downloaded. There is currently no monographic record for the 2000 edition in OCLC with this class.

When added, the public display leads users to the most current information:

TITLE: Your rights as a taxpayer.

PUBLISHED: <S.1.>: Dept. of the Treasury, Internal Revenue Service

URL: Current edition: http://purl.access.gpo.gov/GPO/LPS820 Adobe Acrobat Reader required

SUBJECTS: Tax returns--United States--Periodicals.

Income tax--United States--Periodicals.

LOCATION:CALL NUMBER:STATUS:U.S. Documents -T 22.44/2:1/Enter HOL 1 for holdingsLower LevelElectronic ResourceEnter HOL 2 for holdings

There are many GPO records with a generic PURL and public note to look for documents from a publications list. A typical example follows:

http://purl.access.gpo.gov/GPO/LPS533 |z choose desired file format; select desired issue; then click on "Retrieve selected files" button to view

It may be a safe bet to use such a generic PURL to provide online access to a title expected to remain on the online list, but this choice does not guarantee Permanent Public Access. Use of GPO's record and PURLs to individual titles would generally be seen as safer.

Book or electronic resource?

GPO cataloged this title as an electronic resource:

CIA's analysis of the Soviet Union, 1947-1991. [electronic resource]. 2001. Center for the Study of Intelligence (U.S.)

PREX 3.18:AN 1. [[0856-A-13 (online)]].

<005>20010904150331.0

<538a> System requirements: Adobe Acrobat Reader.

<538a> Mode of access: Internet from the CSI web site. Address as of 9/4/01:

http://www.cia.gov/csi/books/princeton/index.html; current access is available via PURL.

Libraries who have the printed book and seek a unified record can adapt the notes to include the Internet access on the printed book record. Note that the 538 field becomes a 530 and the system requirements note moves to a |z| subfield of the 856 as a public note.

538/3: : |a Also available via Internet from the CSI web site. Address as of 9/4/01: http://www.cia.gov/csi/books/princeton/index.html ; current access is available via PURL.

856/1:41: |u http://purl.access.gpo.gov/GPO/LPS14353 |z Adobe Acrobat Reader required The public now sees a unified record, which can include pagination (from the book's 300 field). Holdings would display a choice of format.

Paper or Microfiche?

- Many libraries use non-GPO microfiche records for Congressional publications distributed in dual formats, in order to clearly reflect the format selected at that institution.
- Like the book record, above, the microfiche record may be adapted to include 530 and 856 fields which make users aware of online access points. These fields have become quite common in GPO's records for Congressional publications and may be copied directly from the paper-format records.

Lagniappe

• Think outside the box in online processing.

• Work with colleagues & vendors to solve problems.

• Share information with other libraries.

Sample Problem:

- How to process maps received directly from USGS into an online catalog when no Shipping List Service records exist?
- Working with Jim Noel of Marcive, Inc., we developed a strategy in which Library staff edit or create a brief record with these elements:

Resolution:

If GPO agrees with the SuDoc number assigned, this brief bib record should be replaced with a full record, like the following example, matching on the 035/3 tmp number.

In August 1996, the vendor agreed to insert the compressed SuDoc number, as formatted above, into every vendor supplied GPO record which lacking a tmp (temporary) number based on GPO shipping list information.
