

Beyond the Library: Connecting with K-12 – Chat Log

from Susanne Caro to everyone:

sorry if I missed this- was there an option for continuing ed credit?

from Jenny Groome to everyone:

+1 Susanne - helps to convince principal to release teachers to attend

from David Isaak to everyone:

If have any questions, please add them to the chat and send them to “Everyone.”

from Susanne Caro to everyone:

Were there any resources the teacher's were really excited about?

from Jen Kirk to everyone:

We did not record the conference, but we are looking to record some sessions in the future

from Jen Kirk to everyone:

We are looking to register this conference for continuing education credits in the next offering. We will need to navigate the state process for that. One of the reasons we made sure to compensate teachers was because we didn't have that continuing education credit from Kate Pitcher to everyone:

Did the teachers and librarians share any challenges they have with discovery or integration of government sources when planning lessons or having their students use them in the classroom?

from Jenny Groome to everyone:

Jen & Katie - this would be great for librarians in other states to learn from from Charlie she-her Amiot to everyone:

A conference kit would be excellent. All you need, just add librarians!

from Jenny Groome to everyone:

Bess & Perveen - do you keep a bibliography of items used in displays?

from Jen Kirk to everyone:

Folks were particularly interested in our Western Survey publications (Stansbury's expedition to the Great Salt Lake, the Fremont expedition, and Powell's Colorado River report). They also loved our homefront publication from the War Publicity Department (WWII)

from Jen Kirk to everyone:

@Jenny - thanks! We presented at ALA 2023, which allowed us to connect with lots of folks. <https://americanlibrariesmagazine.org/blogs/the-scoop/library-collaboration-improve-information-literacy/>. We welcome feedback and discussion from everyone attending this session too!

from Aimee Quinn to everyone:

I love these programs. I think working with schools is so satisfying. I find it so good working with teachers at all levels. They find it so helpful when I show them what government information is available for teachers and for kids at all grade levels.

from Jenny Groome to everyone:
I love the Census school resources from Mary Bangert to everyone: Could you post a link to the LibGuide that was developed?

from Aimee Quinn to everyone:
I wish there was a way we can integrate our resources more formally into the curriculum and pedagogy with teacher. I work closely with the elementary education students so they know what govinfo resources they may use.

from Susanne Caro to everyone:
was there a difference between newer and more experienced educators and the types of resources they wanted? (newer educators wanting lesson plans or more experienced teachers looking for supplemental materials)?

from Jenny Groome to everyone:
+1 Aimee

from Jenny Groome to everyone:
Good insight Susanne

from Susan Golden to everyone:
long time ago, I did one as part of my High School history class

from Aimee Quinn to everyone:
I love serving as a judge at history day as well as helping students prepare their history day projects!

from Andrea Stelljes to everyone:
Yes! We have a History Day Hullabaloo (research event) every winter for students at Hennepin County Library--Minneapolis Central.

from Jen Kirk to everyone:
Thanks Perveen and Bess! That is a wonderful guide!

from Susanne Caro to everyone:
great idea for a shared history guide! I'd love to help.

from Jen Kirk to everyone:
love the idea of a collaborative history guide! the GODORT examples are great too!

from Laurie Aycock to everyone:
Great presentations! Thanks so much for everything you all shared. I would love to do some of these things at our library in the future. I also love the idea of a shared history day guide.

from Aimee Quinn to everyone:
+1 Jennie and Laurie.
